NOTICES OF MOTIONS

WHICH NOW STAND IN THE ORDER BOOK OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Mr. Snowden, -Ownership of Land, etc.,—That this House views with deep concern the state of chronic poverty of the masses of the people of this country; and, believing the cause of this poverty to be the private ownership of land and the instruments for producing and distributing wealth, this House considers that the powers of Parliament should be directed to the gradual supersession of the present system of private ownership of land and capital by the public ownership and control of these essentials to individual existence and social well-being.

Mr. Pirie,—Standing Orders,—Standing Order 47 (2), leave out all after "constituencies."

Mr. MacNeill, Irish Peerage, That, in the opinion of this House, a measure should be immediately introduced by the Government for the abolition of the powers conferred by the Articles of the Act of Union on the Crown in respect of the creation of Irish Peers and on the Members of the Irish Peerage in respect to the election of representative Peers to the House of Lords, having regard to the fact that a Select Committee of the House of Lords, of which the Earl of Rosebery was chairman, reported unanimously, so far back as 1874, that they were convinced that every addition to the Irish Peerage only increased and perpetuated the anomalous condition of that body and pronounced in favour of the modification of the Fourth Article of the Act of Union in this matter, and that a recent incident has emphasised the fact that an election to an Irish representative peerage is a constitutional anomaly indefensible in principle, and contrary to the spirit of representative institutions.

Mr. F. E. Smith,—Indian Frontier,—To call attention to the situation on the Indian Frontier; and to move a Resolution.

Mr. Chiozza Money,—Procedure upon Public Bills, That Standing Order 31 be repealed; that the words "Motions for leave to bring in Bills" be omitted from Standing Order 11, and that the following new Standing Order be substituted for Standing Order 31—Introduction and First Reading of Bills. (1) A Bill may be introduced by a Member by being presented at the Table without an order of the House. Notice is required of the intention to present a Bill; (2) Within two weeks of the presentation of the Bill it shall be printed and read a first time without question or debate, a day being then named for Second Reading by the Member introducing the Bill. The Bill shall be accompanied by and be printed together with an exposition of its nature and principles, and the facts and statistics upon which it is based, and shall quote in full any clause of any Act referred to, repealed by, or amended by the Bill. This exposition, save as to the necessary quotations from Acts of Parliament, shall not exceed one thousand words in the case of a private Member's Bill, or five thousand words in the case of a Government Bill.

Mr. Steadman,—Government Workshops (London),—To call attention to the rates of wages paid by His Majesty's Government in their Workshops and Factories within the county of London area; and to move, That a minimum wage of thirty shillings per week be paid within the London district.

Mr. Bellairs,—Navy (Training),—That this House, having been officially informed that far-reaching changes of an experimental character have been made in the Organisation and Training of the Officers and men of the Royal Navy, is of opinion that there should be an inquiry into the scope and probable effects of these changes.

Mr. Barnes,—Navy (Training),—That this House, having been officially informed that far-reaching changes of an experimental character have been made in the Organisation and Training of the Officers and Men of the Royal Navy, is of opinion that there should be an inquiry into the scope and probable effects of these changes.

Mr. MacNeill,—House of Peers,—That the House of Peers in Parliament is useless, dangerous, and ought to be abolished.

Mr. Charles Allen,—Parliamentary Debates (Select Committee),—That the Report of the Select Committee on Parliamentary Debates, 1907, be now considered.

Mr. H. H. Marks,—Parliamentary Elections (Expenditure),—To call attention to the employment of outside agencies and the expenditure of money by them at recent elections of Members of this House; and to move a Resolution.

Mr. Watson Rutherford,—Workmen's Compensation (National Assurance),—That inasmuch as in the practical working of the Workmen's Compensation Act it is found that, by the action of employers and the insurance companies in declining to insure aged and maimed workmen, such workmen are deprived of all employment, as evidenced by recent occurrences in the carrying trade in Liverpool, it is expedient that a scheme of National Assurance for all workers be undertaken by the State.

Mr. Asquith,—Business of the House (Procedure),—Adjournment on Matter of Public Importance. As an Amendment of Standing Order 10, line 13, at end, add "When a Motion so stands over, the proceedings under discussion at a quarter-past eight may be resumed and proceeded with, though opposed, after the interruption of business." To move as a new Standing Order—In determining whether a discussion is out of order on the ground of anticipation, regard shall be had by Mr. Speaker to the probability of the matter anticipated being brought before the House within a reasonable time.

Sir Edward Sassoon,—East India (Explosives and Press Acts),—To call attention to the proposals of the Government of India contained in the Explosives Act and the Press Act, and the action of His Majesty's Government in relation thereto; and to move a Resolution.

Mr. H. C. Lea,—Grants of Honours,—That the conduct of the Prime Minister in advising His Majesty the King as to the exercise of His Majesty's prerogative in bestowing Peerages or other Honours, and also any act done by any Minister of the Crown in carrying that advice into effect, are fit subjects for question and comment in this House; that this House has repeatedly affirmed and enforced its undoubted right to call such conduct in question, and notably by impeaching before the House of Lords the Earl of Oxford for advising the creation of twelve peers, to form a Tory majority in the House of Lords; and this House will visit with its severest censure the conduct of any Minister who presumes to advise His Majesty to bestow any such Honours either in return for money payments (made to the party funds or to individuals), or otherwise than for the reward of original virtue and distinguished merit displayed in the public service.

Mr. Pirie,—Scottish Administration,—To call attention to the inadequate opportunity afforded to this House for the discussion of the Administration of Scottish Affairs, considering that the Secretary for Scotland is directly responsible to this House for the Administration of the following Boards, viz.: Fishery Board, Lunacy Commission, Registrar General's Office, Local Government Board, Register House, Crofters Commission, Prisons, Public Education, and National Galleries, and that the discussion of matters falling within the Administration of such Boards cannot be brought before the House on a discussion of his salary, whereby important matters, such as the delay in dealing with long-outstanding questions concerning home trawlers and line fishermen, the provision of employment for the young population of crofters in the crofting parishes, and the serious increase of rates in the Highlands, remain unsolved; and to move, That such a state of affairs is detrimental to the best interests of Scotland and tends to bring its Parliamentary representation into disrepute.

Mr. Jowett,—Procedure,—That a Committee be appointed to inquire into and report on the present methods of conducting the Business of the House, and that no Member who has sat in the last or previous Parliaments shall be a member of the said Committee.

Sir Francis Channing,—Business of the House (Procedure),—To move as a new Standing Order -Where a Motion is adopted by the House that the Committee stage of a Bill, or any portion of a Bill, shall be completed within a time specified in the Motion, the determining of the precedence of Amendments on the Order Book shall stand referred to Mr. Speaker and the Chairman of Ways and Means, who shall direct such Amendments as, in their opinion, raise the most important issues relating to the Bill to have priority, and may in determining such precedence of Amendments confer with the leaders of the several parties in the House, and with such other Members as they think fit.

Mr. Crooks,—Lord Cromer, -That this House, having regard to the fact that it recently voted £50,000 to Lord Cromer, is of opinion that he does not stand in need of the Government pension of £900 per annum, and is of opinion it should cease on and after the 1st day of January, 1915.

Mr. Lynch, —Dardanelles,—That this House declines to support any modification of existing treaties concerning the Dardanelles which would confer upon any Foreign Power rights of passage for warships in which the British Navy would not participate.

Mr. Bellairs,—Dardanelles,—That this House declines to support any modification of existing treaties concerning the Dardanelles which would confer upon any Foreign Power rights of passage for warships in which the British Navy would not participate.

Mr. Beaumont, —Woman's Suffrage,—That this House, having regard to the methods with which the movement in favour of extending the Parliamentary franchise to Women has become identified, declines to proceed further with any Bill having that object in view.

Mr. Robert Pearce,—Ballot for Private Members' Bills and Motions,—That, in the opinion of this House, it is desirable to abrogate the present mode of balloting for Private Members' Bills and Motions; that a new Sessional Order be substituted providing that a list be prepared of the subjects of such Private Members' Bills and Motions as have already been introduced and have not received Royal Assent in the preceding Session, and showing the names of the introducing Members of such business; that Members vote upon such list by the method of the single transferable vote, marking numerically up to the number twenty, or other the number of days available for such business, perference for such subjects, so as to secure priority for them in the order of the number of votes given for the same; and that such list be prepared and such voting be conducted and the result thereof be ascertained and declared and the priorities for such Private Members' Bills and Motions be stated under the direction of Mr. Speaker, having regard in such statement to the support which each such subject has received; and that each introducing Member on such statement shall have the right in succession, according to the priorities so stated, of bringing forward his subject upon any day available for such business which he may select and give notice of in writing to the principal clerk of the House within a time to be prescribed by Mr. Speaker upon such statement. Provided that (1) where the votes for any two or mor subjects are equal, the introducing Members thereof shall have priority amongst themselves in the order in which their Notices reach such principal clerk, (2) no such right of selection be given in respect of any subject not supported by forty Members; and (3) any introducing Member may withdraw his subject from such list before the voting.

Mr. MacNeill,—House of Lords,—That, having regard to the fact that serious questions affecting the working of the Parliamentary system have arisen from unfortunate differences between the two Houses, the time has now come for dealing with the position and composition of the House of Lords, either by the initiation of legislation for that purpose, or by the exercise of the royal prerogative to withhold or issue writs of summons to Peers of the Realm for attendance in Parliament on the advice of Ministers responsible to the House of Commons and through the House of Commons to the people, or by both those methods, so as to secure that the accident of birth will no longer confer rights of controlling the legislation of a free and self-governing people.

Mr. Rees,—East India,—To call attention to the present condition of affairs in India and the need for reforms in the Administration; and to move a Resolution.

Mr. Tennant,—East India,—To call attention to the unrest in India, and the action of His Majesty's Ministers and of the authorities in India in relation thereto; and to move a Resolution.

Mr. Rees,—East India (Summary Justice Bill),—To call attention to the Summary Justice Bill, just passed by the Legislative Council of the Governor General of India, for the more speedy trial of persons charged with certain offences and for the trial of cases of sedition and of anarchist offences; and to move a Resolution.
